THEIR SEVEREST CRITICS

The American theater is sensibly acclaimed as one of the last refuges of realism in art. But the heavy spate of plays dealing with sex and its abnormalities suggests that some of our playwrights may have their "realistic" lens out of focus.

The other night in Washington, at a signal from an evidently startled high school Dr. Hyman, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, principal, 146 students marched out in the middle of a new play about sex. The protest of their shuffling feet even interrupted "realism" does not demand that they al-

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY YOUTH VS. AGE

All over the world, people are living longer and youth is pushing harder. The younger people want their place in the sun and the older people do not want to be relegated to porch-sitting. In fact, for most of our population, there are no porches; there are no rockers; in chain stores, there are no cracker barrels; and in the big cities, even the barber shops have been taken by young and pulchritudinous ladies who hold one's hand The Associated Press is entitled exclusively to the use or republication of all the local news printed in this ewspaper as well as all AP news dispatches.

Intelligence Endures

When older people stay healthy and vigorous, there does not appear to be any decline in their intelligence with the advancing years, says Dr. Robert W. Kleemeier, Washington University psy-

He gave intelligence tests at intervals over a 12-year period to persons aged 65 to 90. He found no evidence for the idea there is a normal and steady intellectual decline with the years. But in those who were soon to die, regardless of age, the tests revealed a sharp drop in perform-

Burns Without Scars

For severe burns, a Belgian plastic surgeon uses a bold new technique-which he reports avoids scars and deformities

Under anesthesia, Dr. Jean Lor-thior of Brussels "sandpapers" the burned areas immediately with a high-speed abrasive dril to remove the dead tissue. A month after the scraping, the skin has been restored, and in nearly all cases it eliminates any scarring, says Medical World

Popularly, the business executive is thought of as a "harried and 'raried man driven inexorably toward an early death.'

But his concept is not support ed by findings by Robert H. Thorner, M.P.H., and E. L. Crumpacker, M.D., of Washington, DC, in a 10-year study of 451 male executives

The executives had less than half the death rate expected among the general white male population of comparable age. A main cause of 11 deaths among the businessmen was heart attacks, but even their heart attack rate did not secm excessive. A high standard of living and good medical care apparently help executives live longer than the av erage man.

SATURN SOLUTION-The recently tested first stage of the giant Saturn moon rocket was so huge it had to be transported by barge from Huntsville, Ala., where it was assembled, to its launching site at Cape Canaveral, Fla. But moving the smaller second stage may prove a problem, too. Its builder, Douglas Aircraft, has suggested an airplane piggyback method to bring it from the plant in California. As shown in drawing above, the 41-foot-long, 13,000-pound unit, too large for road or rail, would be carried atop a C-133 cargo plane. National Aeronautics and Space Administration is also considering using dirigibles and gliders.

Is your home insurance as modern as the new home you're paying for?

One policy fills the "gaps" in your protection and covers you 4 ways: (1) Home-protection against losses from fire, wind, storm and other hazards. (2) Family Property -fire insurance on your clothing, furnishings, appliances, etc. (3) Theft-insurance against burglary and damage caused by thieves. (4) Liability-protection against financial liability for injury to others in an accident on your property.

Allstate's Homeowners Policy brings your insurance up to date. Because it's a package of protection, you pay a lot less than you would e: for separate policies. You don't have to wait for your present fire insurance to expire. Whether you own or rent. you can get a Homeowners Policy to fit your needs. Why not call an Allstate Agent and have him

Before anybody ever heard of germs, people had some funny ideas about disease. They knew illnesses could be "caught" but they weren't sure how. In southern Germany a sick person would write on a piece of paper, "Fever, stay away, I'm not at home." Then he slipped the paper in somebody else's pocket - which, according to superstition, gave the fever to that person. Meanwhile the ungenerous "giver" was cured.

ng picture of chaos by interng refugees who had risked their lives to escape from the Communist area in recent days, by talking with objective observers and intelligence sources and by studying the Red Chinese press. My trip through Red China in 1958, as the first and only accredited American newspaper correspondent to get be-hind the Bamboo Curtain, gave me the background to evaluate these facts:

The Red Chinese people are hungry. A skimpy dole of three to five ounces of rice per meal, wice daily, has forced many to fill their empty bellies with roots and the despised leaves of the weet potato vine that they formerly fed to the pigs. They have no meat, except on holidays, and only two ounces of vegetable oil month. A distraught refugee, who had just escaped with her

The government cadres are confused. These Communist party hatchet men, who are in charge of every factory, farm and school, have been blamed for the flasco. Since Mao and the Communist party are always "correct," the finger of failure was pointed at "overzealous" cadres. An escaped doctor says many cadres are suffering from nervous breakdowns and insomnia because of fear of carrying out what later may be a "bad decision," A bitter 28-year-old brigade leader who was kicked out of the party for giving the peasants an extra ounce of rice a meal, after the commune had had a good harvest, told me:

Kaslich Has 72nd Birthday Party, Is in Yugoslavia

NICK KASLICH

Nick Kaslich, who was identified with the billiard business in Kingston for 36 years prior to his retirement in 1958, recently celebrated his 72nd birthday in his native Yugoslavia. Kaslich left the United States with his brother, Steve Kaslich to return to their homeland, the small island of Olib on the Adriatic in 1958. Steve returned to the United States three months after his arrival in Yugoslavia but Nick stayed on to spend the rest of his days in his native

He was joined in his birthday celebration by three sisters, the youngest of which is 56 years old, and several nieces and nephews.

Born on the island of Olib Kaslich came to America in 1903 at the age of 13. He arrived in New York City but a short time later took a job at Pine Hill. He later came to Kingston where he was employed at the old White Tile restaurant on Railroad Avenue and then the Opera Lunch on Fair Street. Kaslich and his brother purchased the familiar billiard landmark known as the Kaslich Billiard Parlor at the corner of Wall and John Streets in March 1922. For the next 36 years they operated a billiard establishment which became known as one of the finest and most respected in New York State.

Featured Many Champions

Many of the world's great balkline and billiard champions appeared at the Kaslich parlor over the years. Among them were the immortal Ralph Green-13-time world pockets champion; and other champions like Andrew Ponzi, Erwin Ru-Frank Taberski, Grev Fox of S lie Mosconi, Irving Crane, Jimmy Caras, Joe Procita and

From the billiard world came the great Willie Hoppe for several exhibitions, as did Charlie Petersen, the fabulous trick shot artist. Other billiard notables included Johnny Layton, Eric Hagenlocker and Welker Cochrane.

Had Local Tourneys In addition, the Kaslichs sponsored several city championship tournaments which created tremendous interest and attracted large crowds to the uptown parlor. Among the big local names were Charlie Bovee, Andrew Campbell Sr., Stan Wojcio, Fred Planthaber and Tony Gentile

Steve, who is now employed as service elevator operator at Montgomery Wards in Kingston, reports that his brother Nick is in excellent health and spirits. He retains fond recollections of his long stay in America and frequently inquires about many of his prominent lo-

Husband Had to Work

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)-A welfare recipient, whose support check did not, arrive when expected, sent a letter to Clinton Welfare Commissioner Richard H. Duquette. It said: 'My check was so late that my husband had to go to work.

Thanksgiving Proclaimed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) - Gov. Rockefeller today proclaimed Thursday, Nov. 23, Thanksgiving Day in New York State. The governor appealed for sup-port of religious programs to American blessings with in need throughout the Superstitious Europeans of the middle ages carried glass canes filled with colored candies. The object was to distract witches. The witch supposedly got so in-terested in sorting the candies, she forgot to work her black arts on the carrier of the cane. This peculiar superstition inspired the red and white striped canes we still see in store windows.

Union president and commander of the industrial union forces, charged that the six-year old AFL-CIO has united unions in name only because, he said, the federation has failed to solve traditional union rivalries. He blamed the craft unions for the

C. J. (Neal) Haggerty, leader of the crafts as president of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades, retorted that the industrial unions are ignoring agreed-upon disputes settlement machinery "making us wonder what an agreement with them is

"Mr. Reuther," said Haggerty, apparently thinks his best deense is an all-out offense."

The basis for the feuding is the same job rights controversy that split the old AFL into the rival AFL and CIO organizations in 1935. Since the AFL-CIO merger was agreed upon in 1955 there have been fruitless efforts to work out a binding arbitration arrangement for interunion disputes. Deploring this, Reuther said in a report prepared for the annual convention of the Industrial Un ion Department he heads that there must be some type of nonaggression pact for the AFL-CIO survive. The convention opens Thursday and runs through Fri-

POP-UP TRAFFIC CONTROL-Internally illuminated traffic markers that appear out of and disappear into the pavement are a new aid to traffic control. Flexible rubber markers, able to withstand tire impacts up to 60 miles an hour, make it possible to change traffic flow patterns to suit needs, as shown in photographs above. Called "Movatron," the system can be operated automatically or with the flick of a button. Time, labor and danger involved in manually erected markers are eliminated, also overhead lane signs.

Career-Second 700 Set On 233, 235 and 232

You'll rarely, if ever, find a gutter ball involved in a 700 triple but it happened to Rose Schatzel in the Bowlerama Quads League Tuesday night.

The Queen of Hudson valley women bowlers for two decades, Mrs. Schatzel achieved the second "700" series of her brilliant career right on the nose with slams of 233, 235 and 232.

The gutter-ball incident came like a bolt out of the blue in the ninth frame of the second game. It followed a six-timer and cost The Queen a minimum of 21 pins. Mrs. Schatzel accidentally struck her right leg on her approach to the foul line and the ball caromed into the gutter. She rallied for a strike on her second ball to earn a spare in Word that Benny Borgmann will soon be tapped for the professional basketball Hall of Fame will come as good news for the older members of the audience.

The younger ones may have to be filled in. Borgmann was perhaps the most famous basketball player ever to represent Kingston in a professional league in the pre-center jump days.

Some may argue the honor for the late Carl Husta and a ballot on the subject might prove interesting. But suffice to say, Borgmann was a master shooter of his time, when there was still a place for the little man in basketball. He was a tremendous floor player and one of the finest set shooters in the history of the game.

In the pre-center jump era of the nets and almost unlimited body contacts, pro basketball was of a more rugged variety than it is today. There is no comparison between the modern shooters in the Chamberlain-Robertson-Baylor mould and the old time set shot artists. The seven foot giants of today completely dwarf their predecessor.

• The Classic Weapon:

But Borgmann was a spectacular shooter in the days when the set shot was the standard weapon. Driving layups were scarce and only the stout hearted tried them with any regularity. There were more play patterns, with the classic screen and pickoff and set shot from the outside,

Borgmann compiled a career average of around 35 per cent on set shooting and that's a figure for which he has to make no apologies. He was in a class with such as Cy Kaselman of the Philadelphia Sphas and Bobby McDermott and Paulie

The sturdily built Jersey lad spearheaded some of the late Frank (Pop) Morgenweck's finest combines. There was one that included Nick Harvey, the Power brothers (Charlie and Artie) and George Artus. They once trounced the vaunted Original Celtics in a home and home series in which the New York end was played at old Madison Square Garden. And this was the Celtics of Joe Lapchick, Johnny Beckman, Nat Holman et al.

Borgman can walk through the room to the Hall of Fame throne without making any apologies. He was durable in an era when ruggedness was a must. Today's professional basketball is a mad statistical race against the clock. Wilt Chamberlain's current average of 49.6 points per game is a fantastic figure, when you consider that some of the world's best pro teams in the set shooting and possession ball era did not score that many points between them in a single game.

Area Sportsman Map:

Jim Lawrence, who formerly resided in Woodstock, has authored A Sportsman's Map of the Catskill Mountains which should be of interest to all area outdoor lovers. While in Woodstock, Lawrence worked for the State Conservation Department as a wildlife biologist and earned a measure of piscatorial fame with some whopping catches in the Ashokan Reservoir

This new recreational map, published by Outdoor Publications of Ithaca, pinpoints exact locations where you can bunt, fish, camp, Tittle whose teammates call him hike, ski, view and tour the nationally famous Catskill vacation-

Cooz Still The Most

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS They've been saying for years it's just like having a second coach the way Bob Cousy plays for the Boston Celtics. Cooz showed why again Tuesday night. With Boston Coach Red Aueroach sitting out the first of three-game suspension for tussles with National Basketball Association referees, the veteran backcourt star took over and led the once-beaten Celts to their seventh rictory-119-117 over the stumbling St. Louis Hawks.

Cousy made two key moves. The first was to play Bill Rusell all the way without a rest Russell responded with 35 points his usual bundle of rebounds and a defensive show that limited Clyde Lovellette, a 23-point game scorer, to just two points.

The second was to give Cousy rest for the entire second per od. Cooz came back freshened after the intermission and tossed two timely baskets in the fourth period.

The Celts stretched their East ern Division lead to 21/2 game Philadelphia, which lost New York's hustling Knicks 124 122 in the windup of a double header at Madiso nSquare Gar den-the only other action in the eague. A $14,400 Split

Featuring a finished playroom, hot water baseboard heat. 3 large bedrooms, and attached garage adds up to excellent value in a reasonably priced home. It's only a few years old in excellent condition throughout and taxes are $250 a year. If you can use a GI Loan, no cash down needed and your total mortgage payment including taxes will be but $100 a month. Sound too good to be true, but it is.
